Portfolio performance

The Sandhurst Strategic Income Fund (Class A units) delivered 1.20% (after fees) to investors through the quarter ending 30 September 2024. The Fund continues to outperform its benchmark and over the past 12 months has returned 5.42% (after fees). This performance over the past year corresponds to returns (after fees) for investors that have exceeded the benchmark by 1.01%.

Whilst concerns surrounding political uncertainty within France eased in early July, global financial markets continued to exhibit volatility through the reporting season. Volatility persisted through August as Japanese Yen funded carry trades began to unwind following the Bank of Japan hiking interest rates. The VIX Index (a measure of forward-looking volatility for the US S&P 500 and commonly referred to as the Fear Gauge) recorded levels last seen in the early stages of the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020. Despite the uneasiness demonstrated by financial markets throughout July and August, the final month of the quarter saw global credit markets quickly recover, with record levels of new issuance in the US being well supported. The lack of issuance domestically relative to offshore markets saw Australian credit indices outperform the US and Europe through the quarter.

Globally, credit rating changes continue to show improvement with all regions from S&P showing net upgrades for two consecutive quarters. The rating agency also expects fewer downgrades in the periods ahead. Locally, ratings downgrade pressure has been limited and calendar year 2024 has seen positive ratings activity for domestic banks which are the most prominent issuers in Australian bond markets (currently comprising 65% of issuance in CY2024).

Asset Allocation

Several central banks began their monetary policy easing cycle throughout the quarter while the RBA maintained the cash rate at 4.35%. Headline inflation for Australia has been notably impacted by energy rebates and cost-of-living assistance, however the RBA Board does not expect their preferred measure of inflation to be sustainably within the target range of 2-3% until 2026. Currently, the consensus from market economists is for the easing cycle in Australia to begin in early 2025.

On current market risk drivers, key geopolitical risks and overall unpredictability remains a central theme in the Middle East as the Israel-Hamas-Hezbollah conflict continues. Whilst financial markets have viewed the implications as manageable to date there remains a risk that the conflict intensifies and expands further, drawing other countries into a broader conflict.

There are currently no unrated assets in the Fund and more than 70% of exposures are rated AA- or higher. At the end of September, 23% of the portfolio is allocated to cash and bank deposits, 41% in bank/corporate bonds with 36% allocated to asset backed securities.
